

beginning of this difficult war

The report to the nation will follow completion of a nine-day European tour.

The report probably will include the prospect of further troop withdrawals from Vietnam, one source said, and could come as early as next week. But the Nixon administration is not hiding its desire to get such a report on the record before the Nov. 3 elections.

President and Mrs. Nixon were given a red-carpet welcome on their arrival at nearby Andrews Air Force Base Monday night.

Nixon repeated at the airport that his tour had been aimed at "strengthening the structure of peace in the Mediterranean and in the world. I think we made progress in strengthening that structure," he said.

The Nixons were greeted by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, congressional and administration leaders and members of the diplomatic corps.

Nixon said he had found in Europe a greater understanding of U.S. policy in Vietnam than on his previous tour last year. He said "events in the future will demonstrate" that the United States is making progress toward achieving its goals in Vietnam.

He reported a favorable sentiment for the U.S. attempt to win peace in the Middle East, and said the countries he visited consider it essential that the United States maintain its strength in the Mediterranean and in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Nixon was greeted warmly throughout the tour. However, there were demonstrations in Rome, and in Dublin dissenters hurled eggs and other objects at his car. In both cities the acts were blamed on those opposed to U.S. policy in Vietnam.

WR Plans to Continue Arming Guards

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Monday that Arkansas National Guardsmen will continue to carry loaded weapons when called in to quell disturbances.

The governor said he would stand by his policy despite the fact that federal officials recommended that unloaded weapons be used.

The President's Commission on Campus Violence has blamed the presence of loaded weapons as a contribution to the shooting that led to four deaths at Kent State University in Ohio last Spring.

"I have the responsibility," Rockefeller said. "They don't come running from Washington when we have a public disturbance."

He said guardsmen had been well-trained and had confidence from their training and experience. No shot has been fired by Guardsmen thus far on duty under Rockefeller, the governor noted.

Rockefeller said, however, that only 1,500 to 1,600 of the law enforcement officers in Arkansas had received any sort of riot control training.

Rockefeller also told newsmen that he didn't know whether Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., might be the target of a speech to be given in Fort Smith Thursday by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

The governor said it was "not unusual" for Agnew to say "something spicy."

Rockefeller said his appointment of Elijah Coleman, a Negro of Little Rock, to the Arkansas State University Board of Trustees had stirred no significant reaction.

He said he did not know anything more about whether an aide, Glen Jermstad, had asked Ernest A. Bartlett Jr. to write a book about the now-defunct Arkansas Loan & Thrift Corp., which Bartlett headed.

A lawsuit drafted for Bartlett contended that Jermstad had asked that such a book be critical of former Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who was the favorite in the Democratic gubernatorial nomination campaign. Faubus lost to Dale Bumpers Sept. 8 in a runoff.

Rockefeller said that he did not know details of any possible arrangement, but he added, "If you were one of my aides and somebody came to you and said I've got something hot, wouldn't you listen?"

The governor also said that Robert Sarver, state Correction Commissioner, had been accepted by the Dick Cavett show on the American Broadcasting Co. television network to rebut remarks made recently on the show by Thomas O. Murton, Sarver's predecessor. Details are being worked out, Rockefeller said.

Murton said reform was unknown in the prison system until he implemented certain measures. When reform got to be too hot as a political issue, Rockefeller dumped him, Murton said.

The governor appeared at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock under sponsorship of the Student Senate. In response to a student's question, Rockefeller said consumer protection advocate Ralph Nader had "played tremendously on the emotions."

The question referred to a statement Rockefeller made at Fayetteville weeks ago that Nader was "dangerous" and some one "to be watched."

Rockefeller said it was good that Nader had made citizens concerned about satisfactory goods, but he said some of the crusaders' criticisms were not justified against products that had undergone "infinite testing."

adapted to the new needs of today's newspaper.

Students see on-screen examples of the dramatic and exciting forms of news photography being used by today's newspapers to bring the world into their readers' homes. Students are also taken behind the scenes and shown the kinds of camera equipment that give today's news photographer the flexibility to meet a greater variety of assignments.

New, more interesting, and easier-to-read page layouts are shown. The filmstrip explains how and why newspapers are making their pages more visually appealing.

Reporting is also changing to meet the needs of today's readers, and "Newspaper Trends" takes a long look at what is happening in this area. Stepped-up coverage of local news, the trend to a more informal style of reporting, and new ways of looking at the function of a newspaper are explored in detail.

The Star is proud to sponsor "Newspaper Trends" as a part of its School Program. People of all ages can learn something new about newspapers from this filmstrip. If your youngsters see the filmstrip in school, ask them about it. You might be surprised at what you learn.

American to Buy Poet's Home

LONDON (AP) — The home of the late Welsh poet Dylan Thomas apparently is about to pass into American hands, but it will be preserved as a cultural center.

Author John Summers, who recently published a biography of Thomas, said Richard Baron, founder of the New York Dial Press, had met the asking price of $24,000.

The home, known as The Boathouse, at Laugharne, Wales, is owned by the poet's widow, Caitlin.

Summers said Baron and his wife Virginia, who is of Welsh descent, planned to turn the home into "a mecca for the English language and particularly writers."

Tornado Hits Oklahoma, One Killed

By RALPH MARSH

Associated Press Writer
SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — A sudden autumn tornado which hopped across this central Oklahoma town of 25,000 has killed three persons and injured more than 40.

Mayor Pierre Taron estimated damage Monday, mainly in the business center, at $3.5 million to $4 million.

A twister, possibly the same one, killed one person in Prague, population 1,500 about 15 miles northeast of Shawnee.

In Shawnee, the storm cut a four-mile diagonal path across the city from southwest to northeast.

Ralph Coats and Roy Lee Coats, not related, died when the tornado ripped through a car agency where both worked. The third victim, Mrs. Allen Roberts, 25, lived in a trailer court which was smashed by the big wind.

Instances of looting were reported and 50 highway patrol troopers, 42 National Guardsmen and police and other helpers from a score of nearby communities were called in for rescue and guard duty.

Damage was concentrated in the downtown area, where Taron said at least 150 businesses were hit, and a northern section of the city where many residences were damaged or destroyed.

Police dispatcher Charles Knox said a woman called to report a tornado funnel approaching. The police operate a weather warning system and Knox said, "I managed to get the sirens turned on, but 'whammo' the windows came in and the electricity went off."

City Hall, where the police station is located, later was evacuated when engineers declared it unsafe.

Gov. Dewey Bartlett, who visited the scene, said he had reports of 55 injured. The Red Cross estimated 40 and a newspaper canvass of hospitals indicated 80.

presidency. One of the others, Lt. Gen. Mohamed Fawzi, commander-in-chief of Egypt's armed forces, assured the central committee of the military's full support for Sadat.

The executive committee made a plea for solidarity in the face of "the designs of hostile forces who desire to sow discord in our ranks." It moved quickly to replace Nasser, it said, to discontinue "reports spread by the imperialist press of the existence of a so-called vacuum in Egypt."

"Nasser's death places a great burden on the ASU and its various organs to work closely with the new president to further Nasser's ideas," the statement said.

It also said Egypt's alliance with the Soviet Union is "a permanent factor, not a temporary convenience," and warned that Israel might decide to renew "military aggression" because of the present situation in Egypt.

In Tel Aviv, Israel made its 21st complaint Monday to the U.N. commission supervising the cease-fire on the Suez Canal, charging that Egypt was continuing construction of missile bases within 18 miles of the canal. Egypt's anti-aircraft missiles are supplied by the Soviets.

Some Western observers had predicted that Nasser would be replaced by a ruling body to avoid an internal power struggle. Sadat is confronted with the task of striking a balance between the Egyptian regime's left wing, led by Air Marshal Ali Sabry, and rightists led by former Interior Minister Zakaria Mohieddin.

A close friend of the dead president, Sadat was among the "free officers group" that overthrew King Farouk in 1952 and provided Nasser's springboard to power.

Paulsen
Speaker at Symposium

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Comedian Pat Paulsen, an unsuccessful presidential candidate in 1968 who rose to fame on the Smothers Brothers television show, said here Monday night that "if it hadn't been for Americans, we wouldn't be the America we are today."

Paulsen, known for his double talk and satire, spoke at a Symposium '70 program at the University of Arkansas.

The sad-faced comic delivered a free-wheeling lecture that poked fun at topics ranging from sex education to oriental religions.

Asked if he planned to run in 1972, Paulsen answered: "Yes, sir, as far as I can."

Paulsen also had a few comments on the Women's Liberation Movement.

"No one should be denied equal rights because of the shape of their skin," he said.

On sex education, Paulsen pointed out that many old myths about sex had gone by the wayside. He said the myth about the stork bringing babies was "disproved by the academic community in 1955." He introduced visual aids to assist in his sex lecture — a Ken and Barbie doll.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MR. AND MRS. JAMES R. HARTSFIELD

The First Christian Church was the scene of the wedding Thursday of Miss Karen Louise Cyr and James R. Hartsfield.

The Rev. E.R. Veatch conducted the ceremony.

Miss Cyr is the daughter of Mrs. Howard Groves of 3901 Iowa Drive and Paul J. Cyr of Skagway. Hartsfield, of Anchorage, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hartsfield of Hope.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Terry Johnson was best man.

For her wedding, Miss Cyr chose a floor-length gown of yellow lace over satin. The empire waist was designed with long sleeves and a round neckline. Her yellow fingertip-length yellow tulle veil was held in place with a small tiara of yellow and white flowers. She carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies centered with a gardenia.

Mrs. Gary Goodwin wore a floor-length gown of moss green slipper satin with avocado lace trim on the bodice and carried a cascade bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums. The bride fashioned both her gown and that of the honor attendant.

The mother of the bride was attired in a deep brown dress with beige, white and brown jacket and beige gloves, purse and shoes.

Wedding guests attended a reception at the Sheffield House after the ceremonies. Assisting were Mrs. Dennis Rehder, Mrs. Betty Gustafson, Mrs. Donald MacInnes, Miss Debbie MacInnes and Mrs. Steven Boushous.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Diamond High School and is a junior at Alaska Methodist University in Anchorage, majoring in comparative literature. A 12-year resident of Anchorage, she is employed at AMU and the Anchorage Daily News. She also is a member of the Alliance Francaise. She was born in Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, Canada and is a member of a pioneer Yukon family.

The bridegroom graduated from East Anchorage High School in 1964 and is attending Anchorage Community College, majoring in business administration. He is employed with Alaska Marine and Equipment, Inc.

Following a wedding trip to Los Angeles, Calif., the newly-married couple will be at home at 1403 Atkinson St.

lery and New York's Whitney Museum combined, says the General Services Administration. All it has to do is find it.

The job of locating and cataloging the works has fallen to the GSA.

The art collection accrued to the government through New Deal-sponsored projects that kept artists on federal payrolls from 1933 to 1943 and brought the United States to the forefront of contemporary international art.

As many as 100,000 pieces of art were created during those years but GSA expects to find only a fraction of them.

GSA starts its inventory in mid-October in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona, the five states that form Region 8 of GSA's 10 regions.

In a two-month project directed by Robert E. Waggoner, GSA regional administrator, Denver artist Marion Iserman will take a detailed inventory of federal art in the five states.

"It all started when Frank Mechau's widow started campaigning to have his mural restored," Iserman said. "Mechau's canvas ... was dirty and frayed, with foot-long slashes and punched holes. Restoring made such a difference to that painting that GSA asked me to do another and then another."

Iserman himself was a Works Project Administration artist for three months during the Depression.

"I was trying to work my way from my hometown, Topeka, Kan., to Chicago where I lived for 13 years," he said. "For small paintings I earned $24 a week and bought my own materials. For murals, the government usually paid one per cent of the total cost of the building, about $350 or $400. That was a year's salary for some of us."

But as the artists became nationally and internationally famous, the market value of their works has gone up.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope returned to the television wars for another season Monday night and may have alienated the entire women's lib movement. With the help of a large crew of female assistants he undertook to demonstrate what might happen if the ladies really took over.

It was good humored, but not wildly funny or witty, and pretty obvious. There was Hope in frilly apron working in his kitchen and mourning bygone masculine supremacy. In flashbacks we saw him riding in a careening taxi piloted by cigar-smoking Totie Fields; running into Zsa Zsa Gabor of the Los Angeles Rams. Joyce Brothers was president; Irene Ryan and Minnie Pearl were the Huntley-Brinkley of the day.

There was a spoof of "Bonanza," with Imogene Coca, Joanne Worley and Kaye Ballard as the Cartwright girls. Phyllis Diller took over Hope's sponsor, show and some of his lines. The most amusing sketch had Hope in a form-revealing pink satin bunny suit resisting advances by a trio of traveling saleswomen.

Hope's opening monologue is usually the high point of his hour. This time he limited himself to a few mild cracks about plane hijacking and some references to the vice president's use of long and complicated words.

The program was followed on NBC by "The Jack Paar Diary," a filmed potpourri of the comedian's impressions and observations in travels around Europe. It was part feature story, part believe-it-or-not, but all based on individual reactions to the off-beat.

There was a segment on a Dutch auto school that teaches drivers to skid safely; an English artist who paints pictures by driving his car over canvas and wet paint. Jack demonstrated how to get out of an automobile that has fallen into deep water.

At the conclusion we received an informal lecture on why the British drive on the left—a hangover from horse days to keep the right hand free for swordplay—and even learned about the Italian tax on cigarette lighters.

Somehow Paar mixed it all together with surprisingly good results, although since retirement from active TV participation, Jack seems to have acquired a slight lord-of-the-manor air when he talks to the television fans.

Drugs Blamed
for Death of Singer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Behavioral scientists will investigate the short, frenzied life of Janis Joplin to try to determine whether the drug overdose that killed the blues-singing star was accidental or deliberate.

The coroner's office said Monday an autopsy showed the 27-year-old singer died from an overdose, but that further tests would be needed to identify the drug.

Police called to Miss Joplin's apartment after she was found dead Sunday said they found small amounts of heroin and marijuana. Her left arm bore fresh needle marks, Coroner Thomas Noguchi said.

Noguchi said he had assigned scientists to conduct the "psychological autopsy" to "determine the mode of death more specifically."

Miss Joplin often told interviewers during her three years of international fame that she never expected a long life.

She said once: "Man, I'd rather have 10 years of superhypermost than live to be 70 sitting in some goddam chair watching TV. Right now is where you are. How can you wait?"

Her nothing-held-back, walling, writhing slinging style—and her prodigious bourbon drinking offstage and on—alarmed some rock music devotees who feared she would burn her voice out early.

To them she once replied: "People say I'm ruining it. Maybe it's getting rough, but I still could reach all the notes I ever could. I don't know how long it will last. As long as I do, probably."

Of her career, Miss Joplin said once: "The worst thing is the loneliness. Somehow you

DADDY'S LITTLE GIRL OR BIG GIRL NOW?

Dear Helen:
I'm 18. My boy friend is a few months younger. He wanted to get engaged this summer, but my parents had a fit. They said I was too young and couldn't accept the responsibilities of married life—I'm still "Dad's little girl."

Helen, my Grandmother is ill, so while Mom and Dad work I watch my three-year-old sister, clean house, cook dinner for seven, go to school, and would get an evening job, except I can't get away from home until 7 p.m. In return I get no allowance, sometimes not even a thank you. I feel like a maid!

If this isn't accepting responsibilities, what is? Don't you think I'm ready to be a Mrs.? —DAD'S LITTLE GIRL

Dear DLG:
Perhaps you're "ready," but are you SURE this is love or a seemingly easy way out? And is your 18-year-old boy friend ready for marriage? Why not wait a while and see? —H.

Dear Helen:
Here's a different "What Is A?"

WHAT ARE SEPARATED

lose all the old friends ... When we're not on stage, we rehearse, lay around in bed, check in and out of motels, watch television ... I live for that one hour on stage. It's full of feeling ... It's a rush, honey."

Her press agent, Myra Friedman, told newsmen Miss Joplin, who had been recording here for several days, was "very happy with her voice, very happy with her group," but added, "I certainly would not say she was a happy person."

PARENTS?

They are the two people you love most in this world, and now you find love is torn between them.

They are the ones who headed the family you enjoyed so much, and now it's incomplete.

Being in a separated family is trying not to cry on the outside, so you can give strength to your mother who is doing her best to hide her tears—while raising two boys and a teen-age girl. (Even though on the inside you're falling apart.)

It's going to church every Sunday (almost), hoping your prayers will bring him home someday.

It's wondering how they are both taking it, and what they are thinking, deep down—and hoping it's not about that final step: Divorce.)

It's having your Dad live across the street from you now, so you know when he goes out, and that gets you more upset.

It's going to sleep every night wishing you'd wake up in the morning to see your parents together at the breakfast table again.

It's suddenly remembering their anniversaries is this month—and then remembering you won't celebrate it.

It's wishing you could talk to them but feeling closed-out and helpless because you might say the wrong things.

It's wondering why two people who loved each other so much can't find their way back; and thinking, "If it can happen to them, will it someday happen to me?" —DIVIDED

Dear Divided:

Why don't you and your brothers break the silence? If you can't find words, then give your parents each a copy of this column. If there's a spark left (and I'm sure there is), it may light up the breakfast table again. —H.

PERSONAL TO "GUY": Your girl friend has "a terrible time finding herself" because she's looking too hard in the wrong places. This kind of heavy self-analysis closes off humor and is mighty confusing to live with. Must you try? —H.

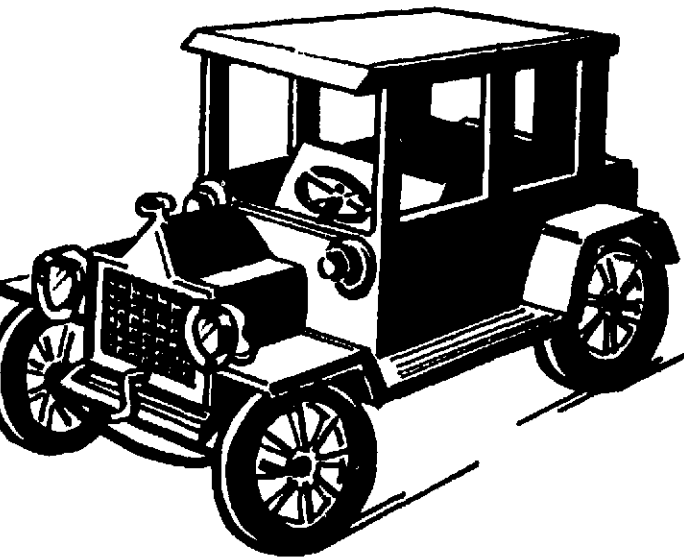

How many times have you watched someone shake his head and ask: "What will they think of next?" Somebody always seems to be trying to make something new — from electric flyswatters to nuclear-powered bubble bath, all to win the consumer's dollar.

There are those who see this as a weakness of the Free Enterprise System. Why let the consumer be the judge, they ask; why not eliminate useless gadgets and have the government "plan" what is worth making and what is not?

This is false efficiency. The Free Enterprise System places its bets on the idea that a million heads are better than one — that 200 million consumers can judge better than 200 planners.

In a controlled economy, a few planners try to decide what WILL work. In Free Enterprise, millions of consumers decide what DOES work.

We think the second way is much more practical. After all, who knows whether some planner might not have decided that the telephone was wildly impractical — or the lightbulb just a useless gadget.

Hope Defeats Texarkana B's 14-6

By JIMMY PRUDEN
Star Sports Writer

Monday night the HHS B Bruins defeated the Texarkana, Texas B team by a score of 14-6 before a light crowd in Tiger Stadium.

What started as an offensive battle ended in a display of defensive power by both teams, with all points by both teams coming in the first eight minutes of play. Throughout the rest of the game there was only one real threat and it stalled on downs.

The Bruins won the toss and elected to receive. On their first possession the B team drove 57 yards backed mainly by the running of Kenneth Ellis and Anthony Davis. The score came on a 24 yard pass from Quarterback Tommy Frazier to Halfback Anthony Davis. Frazier ran for the 2 point conversion and with 7:43 left in the quarter Hope led 8-0.

On Texarkana's first possession, the Texas B team appeared to be getting started with the momentum that carried them to victory the week before, but on a first down Hope defensive man Carl Bostic caused a fumble and a loss of 10 yards on the play. On top of this, 2 plays later, Sophomore Ricky Harl blocked Texarkana's punt and Sophomore linebacker Wade Harris covered the ball on the enemy's 28 yard line.

Split end Buddy Ingram scored on the first play on a bootleg pass play from Quarterback Frazier with 5:14 left in the first quarter. The two point conversion was no good and this completed the Bruin's scoring with Hope leading 14-0.

Having received the kickoff

Texarkana drove 58 yards in 4 plays. The big play in this drive being a 36 yard pass to tight end Covert. The snap on the extra point was fumbled and thus with 3:41 left in the 1st quarter Hope led 14-6.

During the rest of the first half there were five defensive plays by Ralph Martin and Richard Stuart to mention a few.

There was one drive in the second half and it was put together by Texarkana. They drove 48 yards in 12 plays before they had to turn the ball over to Hope on downs. The remainder of the game neither team threatened and thus Hope won 14-6.

Anthony Davis led Hope with 41 yards on 8 carries. He was followed by Kenneth Ellis with 31 yards on 7 carries.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State University Coach Bennie Ellender put his Indians through a light practice here Monday in an attempt to work out some of the soreness from Saturday night's 24-7 victory over The Citadel.

"We're more bruised and sore than ever," Ellender said. "We just tried to work out the kinks."

Injuries Plague the Razorbacks

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Monday that injuries had forced him to move sophomore Larry Kilgore of Amarillo, Tex., into the left defensive tackle position for Saturday's game against Baylor.

Defensive tackles John Turner and Rick Kersey were injured Saturday in the Texas Christian game.

Turner injured his left knee and was to undergo surgery today. He will be out for the remainder of the season. Kersey suffered an injury to his left ankle and is expected to be out for about two weeks.

Broyles had praise for his team after the 49-14 victory over TCU.

Among those singled out by Broyles were quarterback Bill Montgomery and tight end Pat Morrison.

Porks Jump Notch in Grid Poll

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State is No. 1 and Texas is No. 2, so what's new?

What's new is Penn State, which is nowhere at the moment.

"We're just not a very good football team right now," says Coach Joe Paterno, whose Nittany Lions dropped out of the Associated Press rankings—and out of sight—after losing their second straight game last week.

Penn State's 29-16 defeat by Wisconsin came a week after its 41-13 humiliation by Colorado and shattered a myth of invincibility built on 31 games without a loss.

Penn State dipped from No. 4 in the nation to No. 16 after the Colorado belting. Now they Coach Joe Paterno, whose Nittany Lions dropped out of the Associated Press rankings—and out of sight—after losing their second straight game last week.

The Buckeyes widened their lead over the Longhorns after shellacking Duke 34-10. Ohio State received 27 of 38 first-place votes from sports writers and broadcasters around the country for 713 points to 610 for Texas, an uneasy 20-17 conqueror of UCLA.

Stanford plunged from third to 12th after dropping a 26-14 game to Purdue, enabling Notre Dame and Southern California to jump one place each to third and fourth, respectively. Notre Dame ambushed Michigan State 29-0 and Southern Cal walloped Oregon State 45-13.

Mississippi slammed Alabama 48-23 and went from seventh to fifth; Nebraska stayed No. 6 after beating Minnesota 35-10; Michigan went two places

Jonesboro on Top in Prep Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jonesboro continued to hold down the top spot this week in The Associated Press High School Football Poll.

The Hurricane received eight of 13 first-place votes from a panel of sportswriters and sports broadcasters after nipping Little Rock Parkview 3-0 Friday night.

A red hot North Little Rock team moved into the number two spot followed by Fort Smith Northside and Little Rock Catholic.

Little Rock Hall remained number five, followed by an undefeated Hot Springs team that moved up from a seventh place ranking in last week's poll.

Arkadelphia moved up from eighth to seventh followed by Pine Bluff and Rogers.

Rogers was ranked in the Top Ten for the first week following a 46-0 victory over Subiaco Friday.

Arkadelphia, 4-0, remained the leader in Class AA followed by McGehee and Rogers.

Augusta is still number one in Class A followed by Alma and McCrory. Dierks, Luxora and Horatio are ranked as the top three teams in Class B.

Here are the results of the poll with first place votes and team records in parenthesis and total points at right:

1. Jonesboro (8) (5-0) 121
2. N. Little Rock (2) (4-1) 108
3. FS Northside (1) (4-1) 87

to seventh by defeating Texas A&M 14-10 and Air Force climbed two spots to No. 8 after bombing Colorado State 37-22.

Auburn smashed Kentucky 33-15 and climbed from 12th to No. 9 and Arkansas climbed from 11th to 10th after taking Texas Christian 49-14.

Penn State may be in for a rare losing season—and that worries Paterno more than the rankings.

"I've never been concerned with the rankings," he says, "I think they're bad for football. They create interest, I know, but it's not right for teams to run up scores for the rankings. You should play to win in football, not to embarrass the opposition."

The last time Penn State lost more than it won was 1938, when the Nittany Lions' record was 3-4-1. They rank fourth among major schools in the last 25 years—171 victories and 65 losses for a .725 mark. They once had 26 straight winning campaigns—1939 through 1964.

Baltimore's pitching and defense certainly was too much for Minnesota. The Twins committed two errors in each game while the Orioles played errorless ball all the way. And Minnesota pitchers were raked for 36 hits and six home runs, two of them by Dave Johnson, in the one-sided series.

"I don't think we played as well as we are capable of against them," understated Bill Rigney, the Twins' first-year manager. "We gave them too much in this series, something we didn't do during the regular season."

Orioles Are Expected to Match Reds

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — The biggest machine in Cincinnati this weekend won't necessarily be red.

The peaking Baltimore Orioles qualified Monday as a formidable World Series match for Cincinnati's slugging Reds by thrashing Minnesota 6-1 to complete a methodical three-game sweep of the American League championship playoffs.

"We want the choice out this year," said Orioles sparkplug Frank Robinson, for whom the series, opening Saturday at Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium, will mark a second homecoming of sorts. The former Red star was dealt to the Orioles five years ago.

"I was back there for the All-Star game this summer and it was a lot of fun," he recalled. "Now, it's for real. And we're ready."

Robinson spoke of the Orioles' readiness after they proved it convincingly at Memorial Stadium behind the 12-strikeout pitching of right-hander Jim Palmer, one of their trio of 20-game winning aces.

Palmer, who also won the finale of last year's three-game Twin killing in the first playoff of AL division champs, scattered seven hits ... and possibly earned a series-opening start against the National League champion Reds.

Cincinnati capped a three-game sweep of the NL playoffs Monday with a 3-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

While the Reds were taking their league apart from the outset, the Orioles shook off the spectre of a humiliating series setback at the hands of the New York Mets and rolled to 108 victories—tops in the majors.

They won their last 11 regular season games, then smacked the Twins 10-6 and 11-3 at Minnesota last weekend before closing out the set at home.

Manager Earl Weaver shrugged off the winning streak, however, while discussing his outlook on the upcoming confrontation.

"Sure, we've won 14 in a row," he said. "But they don't count now. It's not the winning streak I like, it's the type of people we have on this ball club. If we had lost 14 in a row I'd still think this team can beat Cincinnati."

"Cincinnati probably is the best hitting team in baseball, but I think our pitching and defense is better," said Brooks Robinson, who duplicated his 1969 playoff spree against the Twins by cracking seven hits in the series.

Baltimore's pitching and defense certainly was too much for Minnesota. The Twins committed two errors in each game while the Orioles played errorless ball all the way. And Minnesota pitchers were raked for 36 hits and six home runs, two of them by Dave Johnson, in the one-sided series.

Longhorns to Face Some More Texans

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — When the Texas Longhorns line up Saturday against Oklahoma, they'll be facing mostly more Texans.

"That is a factor" in the emotional pitch of the annual struggle between the two arch-rivals, Texas coach Darrell Royal told a conference Monday.

It was pointed out that 13 of 22 Oklahoma starters are Texans. That includes quarterback Jack Mildren and halfback Joe Wylie, the most sought after high school players in the state their senior years, and the entire linebacking corps of Gary Baccus, Steve Aycock and Steve Casteel.

The attitude when he was at Oklahoma in 1948-49, Royal said, was that "Everyone always felt this was the big test."

He left Oklahoma after the Sooners had compiled 21 straight victories, and the Longhorns now have a 23-game winning streak, the longest in college football.

Royal said the winning streak was not causing "one bit" of additional pressure. "We have a three-game winning streak as far as I'm concerned. I don't think of it as 23 games going on 24."

Royal said Texas quarterback Eddie Phillips, a righthander, might have a partially fractured left thumb, or bone chip, on his "lateralizing hand."

Defensive halfback Danny Lester is on crutches with a strained arch and running back Billy Dale has a sore shoulder, Royal said, as a result of the game against tough UCLA Saturday.

Phillips would be the greatest loss as he leads the team in rushing with 273 yards and has completed 15 of 40 passes for 236 yards, including the winning 45-yard shot to Charles Speyrer to whip UCLA, 20-17, in the final 12 seconds.

Asked what he thought about Texas being favored by as much as 18 points against Oklahoma, Royal shook his head and said, "Oklahoma is every bit the equal of UCLA, and I'm just as sincere about that as I can be."

He said Longhorn coaches "kind of anticipate" the Sooners to throw up an eight-man front against Texas' wishbone-T offense, which relies mainly on a crunching ground attack.

Royal said Oklahoma's open date last weekend gave the Sooners "two weeks to sit back there and really concentrate on us. I know for a fact they spent some time this summer getting ready for us."

"They're not going to play against us like they played against Wisconsin and Oregon State," he said. "They're coming into Dallas with some folks"

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor head football coach Bill Beall has announced five captains for this week's Southwest Conference game with Arkansas.

They are tackles Joe Albright of Andrews and Ron Evans of Amarillo on offense and tackle Trent Phipps of Garland, nose guard Bob Henderson of Tyler and end Dennis Watson on defense.

Albright and Evans earned Fighting Bear awards on offense for their performances in Baylor's 31-10 loss to Louisiana State last Saturday. Phipps, Watson, Henderson and tackle Glen Chmelar of Rockdale earned the same honor on defense.

headed homeward with thoughts of what might have been, the Orioles set their sights on the Big Red Machine.

"I think we're going into the series better prepared this year," Frank Robinson said. "It wasn't that we weren't up for the Mets a year ago. We just weren't ready for them."

"Some of us took three or four days off in a row after we clinched our division. It affected our timing. But we profited by it, and this year we've been working right along to be ready. The regulars wanted to keep playing, and asked to play, because we want to be sharp."

"All last winter," Palmer added, "people kept telling me about how we lost to the Mets in the series. Now we're all looking forward to being back in it ... and facing the best."

Tuesday, October 6, 1970 to make it tough.

Royal recalled that it took a "fumbled punt to bail us out" last year, when Texas won, 27-17.

Other than possible changes because of injuries, the only lineup switch will put David Arledge, 178, back at No. 1 defensive end in place of Dan Terwerp, who started there against UCLA.

Royal said All-America full-back Steve Worster and defensive tackle Ray Dowdy had outstanding games against UCLA.

The Brewers Have Become a Reality

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Take the Seattle Pilots, add a little seasoning from various major league teams, a dash of the New York Mets and stir vigorously with an extract of the Cincinnati Reds.

The result is a Brew that has been successful at the gate in its first season, with promise of success afield in the future.

The Milwaukee Brewers became a reality only seven days before the 1970 baseball season began when a federal judge okayed the sale of the Seattle Pilots to a group of Milwaukee businessmen. On opening day, 37,237 fans poured into Milwaukee County Stadium, a facility originally built to house the Milwaukee Braves.

Rain washed out several game and threatened others in September as a bid to attract one million fans in the first year just barely fell short. In all, 934,820 people passed through the turnstiles in 73 dates.

But the team was not only a success financially. On the field, the Brewers became a spoiler, a tough team.

Actually, the Brewers only won one more than the Pilots did last year, posting a record 65-97. But Milwaukee finished tied with the Kansas City Royals for fourth place in the American League's West Division. The Pilots had finished last.

When Manager Dave Bristol joined the club before this season, he had only two legitimate star-quality players to work with—infielder Tommy Harper, the American League's top base stealer in 1969 with 73 thefts, and first baseman Mike Hegan, son of a former Cleveland Indians catcher, Jim Hegan.

The Milwaukee manager picked up outfielder Ted Savage from Cincinnati; outfielder Russ Snyder and infielder Max Alvis from Cleveland; outfielder Davey May from the Baltimore Orioles; outfielder Hank Allen from the Washington Senators; pitcher Al Downing and infielders Tito Francona and Roberto Pena from the Oakland Athletics, and infielder-outfielder Bob Burda from the San Francisco Giants.

Bristol also added a former Met to his staff—pitching coach Wes Stock.

Even with the team's improvement, Bristol isn't satisfied.

"Maybe it's better we go out this way," Bristol said, referring to a season-ending loss that meant the Brewers had to share fourth place rather than win it outright. "It will give us something to shoot at next year."

"You have to give credit to our coaches who poured themselves into the job ever since we hit Tempe, Ariz., the Brewers' training camp site, he said.

"I think we're going into the series better prepared this year," Frank Robinson said. "It wasn't that we weren't up for the Mets a year ago. We just weren't ready for them."

"Some of us took three or four days off in a row after we clinched our division. It affected our timing. But we profited by it, and this year we've been working right along to be ready. The regulars wanted to keep playing, and asked to play, because we want to be sharp."

"All last winter," Palmer added, "people kept telling me about how we lost to the Mets in the series. Now we're all looking forward to being back in it ... and facing the best."

Red Manager Recalls the Lean Days

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Not too many years ago Sparky Anderson was screwing legs into tables in a furniture factory, his baseball career apparently over.

Now he's the manager of the National League champion Cincinnati Reds preparing for Saturday's opening of the World Series against American League champion Baltimore.

Anderson recalled those lean days Monday as he stood dripping with champagne in the Cincinnati dressing room after his Reds had defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates for a three-game sweep of the National League playoffs.

The Reds took the payoff game on a play that characterizes their manager's philosophy of the game—aggressiveness and the willingness to gamble.

The score was tied 2-2 in the eighth at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium. Ty Cline was on second and Pete Rose at first. Bobby Tolan lashed a single to left and Cline rounded third just beating Willie Stargell's throw to the plate with what turned out to be the winning run in a 3-2 game.

"We try to play aggressive baseball," said Anderson. "Sure we've had guys thrown out at the plate, but that's the chance you take," observed the guy who six years ago was fired by Toronto in the International League and turned to work in the furniture factory.

The 36-year-old Anderson, youngest manager in the major leagues, took a moment from explaining his strategy in the deciding game against Eastern Division champion Pittsburgh to announce Gary Nolan as the Reds' first-game pitcher against Baltimore Saturday in the World Series.

Nolan won 18 games during the regular season and the first of the playoff. He'll probably be opposed by Orioles' Jim Palmer.

Cline, whose pinch triple started the Reds' winning three-run rally in the 10th inning of the playoff opener, was called upon in the eighth inning Monday with two out and the bases empty.

He walked and moved to second on Rose's single.

Cline said he made up his mind to try for home as soon as he saw Tolan's hit to left.

"As I rounded third I slipped and lost my balance completely," he related. "I lost Alex completely," he said, referring to third base coach Alex Grammas, who was waving and shouting for Cline to keep going to the plate.

"I didn't hear him either," Cline said, "but I knew he would want me to try and score."

Cline said that as he neared the plate he saw Pirates' catcher Manny Sanguillen go toward first. "I tried for the third base edge of the plate," he went on.

Stargell said Tolan's single wasn't as hard as he thought it was. "If it had been hit sharper I wouldn't have had to hurry," said the Pittsburgh left fielder, who has a good throwing arm.

Sanguillen had to go to his right to get the throw and then dive back to his left. He just missed the tag and it meant Cincinnati's first National League pennant since 1961.

There were a number of dramatic moments in the hard-fought third and final game of the playoff. Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh had a tough decision when he lifted right-hander Bob Moose in favor of reliever Joe Gibbon with left-hand hitting Tolan coming up in the critical eighth.

"I knew that Tolan hit well against left-handers," said Murtaugh. Tolan hit .335 against southpaws during the regular season.

"I went to the percentages," said Murtaugh, explaining why he decided to go to the left-handed Gibbon. "Tolan is a good hitter against right-handers too. Tolan hit the ball on the ground," added Murtaugh, "but it went in the hole."

Murtaugh summed up his team's quick exit from the playoffs this way:

"It was just like our final games against the (New York) Mets that gave us the division. We got the big baseball breaks then. The Reds got the big baseball plays when they needed them in this series."

Moose was philosophical about his heart-breaking defeat. The right-hander gave up only four hits in the 7 2-3 innings he worked. Unfortunately for him, two of the hits were consecutive home runs in the first inning by Tony Perez and Johnny Bench.

"They were bad pitches," said Moose, who felt no pain in the tender elbow of his pitching arm which had threatened to keep him out of the playoff. "You make a bad pitch and what can you do?"

The 5-foot-9 Anderson, a slim appearing 170 pounds, already is thinking about the Baltimore Orioles, who won the American League pennant in a three-game sweep over Minnesota.

"Our scouting report is that Baltimore is the best defensive club in baseball, has the best front-line pitching in the game and is the third or fourth best offensive team," he said.

The Reds, however, don't appear awed. Scout Ray Shore winked at a guy in the dressing room Monday as he observed: "Two of the Orioles' three top starters are left-handed."

A look at the record shows that Cincinnati posted a 33-8 record against southpaws in the regular season with only five going the route against the Big Red Machine. And they beat two left-handers in the playoff.

Cards Swap Allen to the Dodgers

By PAUL LE BAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Richie Allen has departed after less than a year, and the St. Louis Cardinals say they're hoping to make the sacrifice of power for a more secure defense payoff in the National League.

The Cardinals, concerned with an aging combination at second base, made their move Monday by trading Allen to the Los Angeles Dodgers for infielder Ted Sizemore and catcher-outfielder Bob Stinson.

The 28-year-old Allen, acquired Oct. 8, 1969 in a seven-player deal from the Philadelphia Phillies, was sidelined the final 40 games of the 1970 season by a torn hamstring muscle. Nonetheless he socked 34 home runs, drove in 101 runs and hit .279.

In his place the Cardinals have the 24-year-old Sizemore, who began the Dodgers' past season as shortstop and moved to second base when the team reacquired Maury Wills.

The NL's rookie of the year in 1969 and a former minor league catcher, Sizemore batted .306 for the Dodgers in '70 and drove in 34 runs in 96 games.

The reason behind his acquisition, Cardinal General Manager Bing Devine said, was to shore up a defense rated the club's No. 1 problem.

"Julian Javier is 34 going on 35, and he has to play less," said Devine in reference to Cardinal status at second base.

Bothered increasingly by back trouble, Javier was out of the lineup at intervals in 1970 and 31-year-old shortstop Dal Maxvill moved over to take his place.

Javier, Devine said, will be used as an extra with the arrival of Sizemore "especially pinch-hitting against left-handed pitchers."

The Dodgers, second in NL team batting, have needed a power hitter to drive home players who hit well for average but mainly with singles.

"We've looked for a long time," said Dodger Vice-President Al Campanis, "because we knew what we needed more than anything was a big bat in the middle of our line-up."

Campanis said a decision will be made during spring training on where Allen will play. With slick-fielding Wes Parker at first base, Allen probably will be stationed at third base or left field. Billy Grabarkewitz likely will be switched from third to second base.

Allen, who professed happiness in a Cardinal uniform, underwent none of turmoil here that checkered his six-season career with the Phillies.

Monty Monts, Monday, during the weekly luncheon at Town & Country.

Several years ago Mr. Monts was a guest of the club when he first started the soybean drying, storage and marketing plant in Hope and Monday, at the request of Haskell Jones, program chairman, he told of the expansion of the plant.

Last year a 300,000 storage unit was built in addition to what they already were using. They can process five carloads of beans per day and have a truck unloading system whereby a truck can be picked up and dumped in one move.

Cotton is no longer king as a money crop. Mr. Monts said that the harvest had started and that crop prospects were good and it is estimated that there will be from $1½ to $2 million crop for this area. Prices for the beans Monday were 52c per bushel higher than the same day a year ago.

In addition to the soybeans more milo is being grown, also winter wheat, and Mr. Monts now has a feed mill that has been operating about a year. The mill can produce about 2,500 tons per week and is making about 1,000 tons of pellets a week.

Guests were Jack Caldwell of Hope Auto, Rev. Gordon Renshaw and Forrest Singleton of the Hope Kiwanis Club who came to announce a drug alert program sponsored by Kiwanians. The first of a series of drug meetings is scheduled for Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Hempstead Courthouse.

Umpires Try for Final Agreement

CINCINNATI (AP) — Major league umpires, who worked baseball's playoffs under temporary settlement of their contract dispute with management, will try to hammer out a final agreement Wednesday in New York. Umpire Harry Wendelstedt said Monday umpire representatives will meet in Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office to clear up the contract prior to the World Series, which starts here Saturday.

Under terms of the temporary settlement, the umpires will receive $3,000 for working the National and American League playoff games and $7,000 for the series. Umpires have asked for $5,000 and $10,000.

"We didn't want to be brutal," said Wendelstedt, explaining why the umpires called off their strike and agreed to work the AL games between Baltimore and Minnesota and the NL playoffs between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

"But we still have them by the necks," said Wendelstedt, "they're not going to bury us." The umpires agreed to work the second playoff game only after last-minute negotiations with the owners and league officials.

Lions Put on Show for Fans and Television

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — "I thought maybe they'd boo us off the field but they stayed with us," smiled Detroit Lions quarterback Bill Munson.

And in response to the confidence from the capacity crowd of 58,210 — plus a national television audience — the Lions put on a second half show for the viewers by overcoming a 7-0 deficit to maul the Chicago Bears 28-14 Monday night.

The victory gave Detroit sole possession of first in the Central Division of the National Football Conference with a 3-0 record. Chicago, Green Bay and Minnesota are all 2-1.

Munson, who completed 13 of 19 passes for 229 yards and a touchdown, indicated luck was a partial reason for the second half spurt.

The Bears continually adjusted their defense after Detroit broke its huddle to come to the line of scrimmage.

However, "We wound up calling the right plays more than not in the second half," Munson said. "In the first half they (Bears) shifted a little more and every time we seemed to run right into them."

Detroit's running game got bogged down to just 18 yards in the first half, plus only 72 passing on six completions. There was brief booing of Munson and company until the final two quarters when things opened up and the Lions nailed Chicago for a 21-point third quarter. They ended up with 350 yards total offense.

Wide receiver Larry Walton caught four of his tosses for 70 yards, including a 13-yard touchdown. Tight end Charlie Sanders and halfback Altie Taylor each snared three for 77 and 59 yards respectively.

Chicago bounced back from the 21-7 third quarter score with a 60-yard touchdown pass from Jack Concannon to Dick Gordon on the first play of the fourth quarter to put the Bears back in the game. But a key interception by Lion cornerback Dick LeBeau ruined Chicago and set up Detroit's final insurance touchdown.

The 33-year-old 12-year veteran picked off the pass at the Lions 26 and ran it back to the Bears 31. A 15-yard penalty by Chicago for pulling a face mask put the ball on the 20 and on the 53first play fullback Mel Farr sprinted inside left end for one of his two touchdowns with the aid of a great block by Sanders.

On the second play after Farr's 20-yard burst LeBeau nabbed another Concannon offering, this time at the Detroit six, and Chicago only had the ball four more plays the rest of the way.

"Everyone was pretty mad at himself for how each played in the first half," Munson said. When Gordon scored in the first quarter on a 20-yard pass from Concannon it was the first time anyone scored a touchdown against the Lions in their last five regular National Football League games. Chicago hasn't beaten the Lions in three years.

Detroit, No. 1 in defense in the league, gave up just 38 yards rushing in a 177 total. The Bears got just two of their eight first downs in the second half while the Lions got 17 of their 22 then.

Encroachment Rule Unfair, Says Coach

ATLANTA (AP) — The National Football League's encroachment rule is "unfair as hell" and should be amended during kicking situations, says Coach Norm Van Brocklin of the Atlanta Falcons.

Van Brocklin said Monday the intent of the ruling was to "keep some helpless quarterback from getting clobbered by a lineman." Under the rule the defense has no option.

When the rule gave San Francisco a second shot at a missed field goal attempt Sunday, Bruce Gossett drilled through a 43-yarder that put the 49ers ahead 20-14 over Atlanta six minutes into the final quarter.

However, Gossett missed on a 19-yard attempt in the final six seconds and the Falcons gained a 21-20 comeback victory.

The encroachment penalty erased the 38-yard attempt by Gossett early in the fourth quarter, because the 49er center moved the ball before making his snap to holder John Brodie.

"I called the supervisor of league officials today and found out that the game officials made the correct ruling yesterday," Van Brocklin said.

"It kills the play when an offensive lineman moves before the snap. The defensive team does not have an option to refuse the penalty. It is an automatic five yards."

Van Brocklin said the rule should be changed on obvious kicking situations.

"I asked the league to amend it," he said. "It's a negative type rule."

Redlegs Are Favorites in the Opener

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The home-field advantage makes the Cincinnati Reds 6-5 favorites to defeat Baltimore in Saturday's World Series opener, say two Nevada oddsmakers.

Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder of Las Vegas also quoted the same odds Monday against the Orioles for the whole series.

"It's a toss-up series," Snyder said. "This is probably the closest series odds in history."

He said the Reds have an edge because up to four games of the best-of-7 series will be played in Cincinnati.

Though picking Cincinnati 6-5 in the first game, oddsmaker North Swanson of Reno rates the series as an even bet.

"It's real tight," Swanson said, "... but Cincinnati has the advantage of the first two games at home and the last two if they go to seven."

Bobby Isaac Increases His Lead

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — By winning the Wilkes 400 Sunday at North Wilkesboro, N.C., Bobby Isaac increased his lead by eight and six points over his nearest rivals for the coveted NASCAR Grand National Driving Championship.

However, Isaac, who drives a Dodge, still holds only a slim lead over James Hylton and Bobby Allison with the National 500 Superspeedway Classic coming next Sunday at Charlotte Motor Speedway.

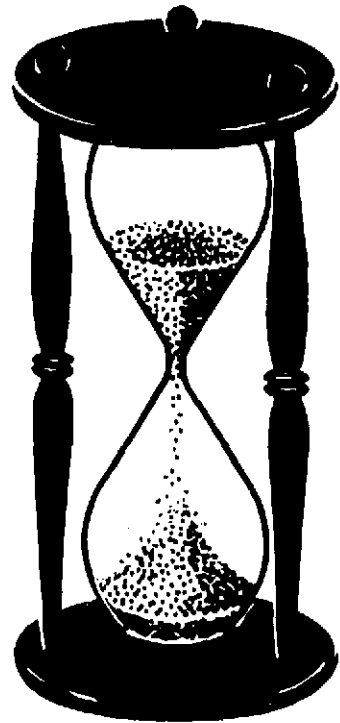

Isaac, of Catawba, N.C., has 3421 points; Hylton 3371; and Allison, also a Dodge driver, 3327 points. The winner of the National will receive 150 championship points with a drop of three points per position.

Closer still is the battle for the manufacturers' championship. Dodge is the current leader with 270 points, gaining 16 victories in the process, while Plymouth is seven behind at 263.

Plymouth has won 19 races this season, all coming at the hands of Richard Petty (16) and his teammate, Pete Hamilton.

LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M. D. Program of Exercise Must Suit Individual

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Exercise, like any medicine, oxygen or sunshine has an optimal level for each person. The simple truth is that proper exercise can save your life and protect your health. The wrong kind and amount of exercise can harm your health or even kill you. Understand what exercise can and cannot do for you. Then follow the principles learned in your own health program.

Exercise uses energy which, in turn, requires that you breathe more oxygen. Not only are the exercised muscles working harder, like the leg-muscles during running, but the heart muscle has to work harder to pump more blood for the delivery of the increased amount of oxygen to the working muscles. Since the heart muscle is working harder, it also needs more oxygen. If the arteries to your heart are normal, they enlarge during exercise, carrying more blood to the heart muscle. If the blood vessels to the heart are too diseased, usually from fat deposits in the wall of the arteries, they cannot dilate and you cannot increase the blood flow or oxygen supply to the heart muscle. In severe states this may cause heart pain or even a heart attack.

Exercise that involves small muscle groups doesn't use enough energy to cause a significant work load for the heart. Running uses lots of muscles and requires a lot of oxygen so it causes the heart to work harder.

The right kind of exercise will strengthen the heart muscle and improve its own blood supply by increasing the size and number of open blood vessels in the heart muscle. If that is your goal, exercise such as walking, jogging, running, dancing, swimming or other events that use lots of muscles is the way to accomplish this. But all of this must be done gradually if you are not already in peak condition.

I advise you do not start an exercise program until you have read my next several columns about exercise if you want to avoid problems.

The work of the heart muscle depends upon how much blood it must pump and at what pressure. The blood pumped is literally the weight the heart muscle must lift and the pressure is the force that must be applied to the weight of the blood. If you are one with high blood pressure you have to be careful what kind of exercise program you use.

Crash Probe Discloses Violations

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal investigators say they have uncovered what appear to be a number of violations in the wake of a plane crash in the Colorado Rockies which resulted in the death of 30 persons bound for a football game last Friday.

"We'll hold a formal hearing and that's an indication it's a very serious case," said Edward E. Slatery Jr., information chief for the National Transportation Safety Board.

Two Martin 404 aircraft were ferrying the Wichita State University football team to Logan, Utah, for a game. One plane crashed and burned 52 miles west of Denver. The other landed safely at Logan.

The victims included 13 Wichita players, the head coach, athletic director and team boosters.

James R. Greenwood, chief of public affairs for the Federal Aviation Administration, said Monday Golden Eagle Aviation of Oklahoma City, which contracted to transport the football team this season, did not have FAA certification to operate the 45,000-pound Martin 404s.

"They were certified to operate aircraft in a smaller weight category and up to 12,500 pounds," Greenwood said. "In other words, they were an air taxi operator."

However, Jack Richards, owner of Jack Richards Aircraft Co., Inc., which owned the planes, said, "I leased the airplane to the university and the university supplied its own crews."

The FAA seized the second plane at Logan, sealed its doors with tape and removed the door handles.

The seizure order said the 20-year-old plane "has been involved in various violations of the federal aviation regulations." Greenwood said the violations were "in the area of mechanical deficiencies."

Richards said of the second plane: "It's always been in excellent condition."

Greenwood said the pilot of the undamaged plane, identified as Leland T. Everett, was more than a month overdue for validating his medical certificate to fly.

However, the FAA official said the crew of the plane that crashed appeared to have had up-to-date medical certificates and commercial licenses to fly the Martin 404.

Arthur Dunbar, an investigator for the FAA, said the agency is having trouble determining whether Golden Eagle leased the two planes from Richards or only supplied the crews.

Richards acquired title to the two planes from Fairchild-Hiller Corp. only a day before the crash. He said he has been leasing planes to Wichita State for two years.

President of Bolivia Resigns

By HAROLD OLMOS
Associated Press Writer

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia resigned as president early today and a right-wing general who launched a revolt against him took over in his place.

Ovando asked military forces still loyal to him not to oppose the rebellion against him.

Shortly afterward, Gen. Rogelio Miranda, the army chief of staff who launched the revolt on Sunday, announced that he was assuming the presidency of a military junta. He did not immediately name the other members of the group.

Miranda said he formed the junta "to direct the destiny of the fatherland with justice."

Ovando celebrated his first anniversary as president just a week ago.

The president gave up after a meeting of army officers by a vote of 317-40 Monday called on both him and Miranda to resign.

Ovando, who seized the presidency in a military coup, at first was defiant and said: "The destiny of the country is not decided by officials but by the people who ought to express their opinions at elections." But during the night he changed his mind.

Ovando on Monday still had the support of two important regiments and the air force. Maj. Ruben Sanchez, commander of the Colorado Regiment guarding the presidential palace, termed the officers' vote a "fraud."

Senate Probe of Urban Guerrillas Blamed for Deaths of 20 Officers

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate opened today a probe of organized "urban guerrillas" whose 300 assaults on police in the past year are blamed for the deaths of 20 officers.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said his internal securities subcommittee would hear policemen from more than a dozen cities in four days of testimony on proposed new laws to protect policemen.

One of the officers, Patrolman James Sledge of Omaha, Neb., was wounded Aug. 14 in a dynamite explosion when a fellow officer opened a booby-trapped suitcase. His partner was killed in the incident.

The subcommittee is considering several proposed measures to curb attacks on police.

House Group Slashes $2 Billion Off of the Pentagon's Money Bill

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Slashing $2 billion from the Pentagon's annual money bill, the House Appropriations Committee approved $68.7 billion today and told the Defense Department it wants better management and "more defense for the dollar."

Criticizing the department's procurement practices for the second year in a row, the committee said increased Soviet competition and other military demands require the Pentagon to streamline its methods and not simply ask for more money. Such a request, the committee said, only aggravates inefficiency and mismanagement.

"There is no room for American bungling in the field of defense," the report said. "...the country has ever right to expect that the appropriation of more than $68 billion will provide for minimal military forces."

The committee said "the tense situation in the Middle East is a matter of grave concern" but revised language suggesting there might be a need for military forces there sometime before next June.

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said the initial language referred only to improvement of the U.S. 6th fleet in the Mediterranean and was not meant to suggest a new commitment of U.S. ground troops in that troubled area.

Some $1.5 billion of the cuts from President Nixon's $68.7 billion defense request for the fiscal year starting last July 1 is in weapons development and purchase money.

The House is expected to vote on the bill Thursday or Friday, which could put the House in a position to recess this week until after the Nov. 3 elections.

The committee knocked out all funds for the Army generals' helicopter training program under which Army Chief of Staff William C. Westmoreland has, just won his wings—and urged the Navy to collect another $196,000 for the filming of "Tora! Tora! Tora!"

The Navy has billed 20th Century Fox $319,091 for assistance in filming "Tora! Tora! Tora!" the committee said, but should charge another $196,000 including $136,500 for 2½ days' unbilled use of the aircraft carrier Yorktown.

The movie is a reconstruction of the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor.

The committee bill contains the $544 million asked for the C-5A supercargo jet but specifies the $200 million included for emergency payments to the manufacturing Lockheed Aircraft Corp. cannot be obligated until the committee is briefed on resolution of the company's contract dispute with the Air Force.

National Newspaper Week Oct. 4-10

Area students are observing National Newspaper Week Oct. 4-10 with a new, up-to-date filmstrip entitled "Newspaper Trends."

The filmstrip is one of a series of Studies-in-Depth that are received each year by schools participating in the Hope Star School Program. In addition, the schools receive a regular weekly News Filmstrip through our newspaper. All of the filmstrips and related Teacher's Guides are produced by Visual Education Consultants, Inc. of Madison, Wisconsin.

Newspapers are changing in response to a changing world, and "Newspaper Trends" is a far-reaching overview of the way newspapers around the country are meeting this challenge.

What are some of the changes taking place that are covered in "Newspaper Trends"? The filmstrip concentrates on advances in four different areas: printing, layout, photography, and the actual reporting of the news.

The filmstrip takes a look at changes taking place in the pressroom, where better presses are printing better newspapers. Students learn the difference between offset and letterpress printing and how each is being

Mr. Gillispie, representing Millard K. Neptune, Regional Director of the Economic Development Administration, with offices in Austin, Texas, presenting a check for $85,500 to Mayor Frank Douglas. This is the first federal reimbursement on the $755,000 federally assisted project the City of Hope has underway.

The first contract let on project covered the extension of the 12" water main from Edgewood and 9th Streets to the city limits on Highway 67 east. This line will furnish automatic sprinkler service to Meyers Bakery. Also in this same contract was the extension of a 12" water line from Greenwood Street on North Hazel, north along Highway 29 across the Interstate and to the Mobile Home Factory located in the north industrial district. The $85,500 represents 60 per cent of the total cost of this contract which was recently completed by Brauson Contractors, Inc.

This part of the work was contracted before other phases of the work could begin due to the urgent need for sprinkler service at Young American Homes and Meyers Bakery.

Four other contracts have been let and all the work is now 70 per cent completed. Druyvesteyn Construction Company of Fort Smith have already completed laying the 12" water main from the Mobile Home site north to Oakhaven and West along the Oakhaven airport road to the airport. This brings water service to the 750 acre tract on the east side of Highway 4 at the airport and into the 1500 acre site of the airport proper. Bringing water service into this area gives Hope an almost unlimited potential for industrial development in this area. The City was recently able to get a Recapture Clause removed by the federal government on the airport property which makes it available for industrial development. Also the City recently got approval for the Federal Aviation Administration to grant a 12-month option on a 132 acre site at $350 an acre to an industry that is considering locating in this area.

Other work in the federal project includes roads to the Hope Feed Mill and Horace Anthony area, additional roads and sewers in the west industrial district, and 4 water wells in the Oakhaven area. All of this work is underway, and with reasonable working weather, should be almost completed by December 1st.

To Protect Diplomats in Future

MONTREAL (AP) — The Canadian government promised extra protection Monday night for foreign diplomats following Canada's first political kidnapping. But the Montreal police temporarily halted their hunt for the Quebec separatists who took Britain's senior trade commissioner in Canada from his Montreal home Monday morning.

A police spokesman said the manhunt was halted after a ransom note said there must be "no police action" against the kidnappers. "A man's life is at stake," the spokesman said. "We don't want to make the terrorists jittery."

The kidnapping of James Richard Cross, 49, was blamed on the terrorist Front de Liberation Quebecois, the FLQ. The organization seeks Quebec's independence and is believed responsible for scores of bombings in Quebec since 1963.

Provincial Justice Minister Jerome Choquette told a news conference the ransom note demanded that a "certain number of alleged political prisoners" be put aboard a plane for Cuba or Algeria along with $500,000 in gold bullion by Wednesday morning.

The federal and provincial governments apparently had reached no decision on what to do about the ransom demand.

Foreign Minister Mitchell Sharp told newsmen in Ottawa Monday night that additional protection will be provided for the more than 1,000 foreign diplomats in Canada.

Egypt Names Sadat, an Enemy of U.S.

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's only political party named Anwar Sadat Monday night to succeed the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser, assuring his election by the National Assembly Wednesday.

Meeting shortly before midnight, the 150-member central committee of the Arab Socialist Union unanimously approved the nomination of Sadat by the party's executive committee. Sadat, 52, has been serving as provisional president since Nasser died Sept. 28.

The executive committee recommended that the assembly meet Wednesday to endorse Sadat, that his election be confirmed by a nationwide referendum Oct. 15, and that the president be inaugurated two days later.

Named vice president by Nasser in 1969, Sadat was considered by most observers to be the least controversial of several potential contenders for the

Electoral Reform Bill Shelved

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After nearly a month of wrangling, the Senate has shelved a constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college and provide for the direct election of the president.

The move came abruptly Monday after the collapse of efforts to find a compromise.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief Senate sponsor of the proposed amendment, said he hopes it will be given another chance if Congress holds a post-election session in November.

The House approved the amendment last year by a 339-70 vote and President Nixon subsequently endorsed it. But in the Senate it ran into delaying tactics by opponents and all efforts to bring it to a vote proved futile.

Not until Sept. 8, nearly a year after the House approved it, was the amendment brought up in the Senate. Two attempts to shut off debate fell short of the required two-thirds majority.

A third attempt had been scheduled for today's session, but it was washed out when Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., obtained unanimous consent to shelve the whole issue.

Bayh had conceded another cloture vote would have been fruitless.

He repeatedly said he thought the proposed amendment could muster the two-thirds majority required for approval if only it could be brought to a vote, but other senators disputed this.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., who had offered a compromise, said it was apparent there was no electoral reform proposal on which two-thirds of the Senate could agree.

Many different proposals were advanced during the course of the debate, but none of them ever came to a vote.

The unanimous-consent agreement obtained by Mansfield provides the issue cannot be brought up in the Senate again before Nov. 16.

There is no guarantee a lame-duck session will be held in November, but if there is, Bayh said, he and other supporters of the direct-election amendment hope to persuade Mansfield "to let us have another crack at it."

If it can't win approval, he said, he will try some other plan that would be an improvement over the electoral college system.
